Journal of Dairy Science Honors Most Prolific Authors

As part of the centennial celebration for the Journal of Dairy Science, individuals who have authored or co-authored 100 or more papers in the journal will be inaugurated into JDS Club 100 at the 2017 American Dairy Science Association® Annual Meeting in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. This first class of authors will receive a memento to honor their unique standing among all JDS authors, and new members will be added annually thereafter as researchers achieve this milestone.

According to JDS editor-in-chief Matt Lucy, “This award is really a way to recognize those who have made truly significant contributions to the journal. Publishing 100 papers is a great accomplishment, and those who have done so solely within JDS certainly deserve commendation.”
